Dear Newsletter,

Heacham Post Office

My friend lives in a small village in Bedfordshire that, over the years, has lost its school, its bank and, more recently, its post office. In my friend's words, "it has ripped the heart out of the village".

It made me realize how very fortunate we are in Heacham with our post office. It doesn't matter how complex your enquiry, you are always dealt with timeless patience and nobody minds waiting as there is always someone you know to talk to.

Just recently, I watched an elderly man who had come on what would have been his pension day. He had his old pension book cover in his hand, which now contained his debit card, which he handed to the lady who then told him how to put it in the machine and when to remove it and then put his money and card in the case and handed it back to him. There can't be many post offices that would treat people who hadn't come to terms with the new banking system, and I was told many hadn't, with such patience and kindness.

So thank you Mr and Mrs Faulkner for providing the village with such excellent service.

Dear Newsletter,

Macmillan Coffee Morning

For the second year running a very successful coffee morning was held at Pioneer Holiday Park, Heacham in aid of Macmillan Cancer Support.

Organised by Roger and Margaret Green and their caravan park neighbours and close friends Malcolm and Valerie Nicholson it was this time held over two mornings and as a result £821.97p was raised and will be sent to Macmillan head office in Norwich.

The organisers and their team of helpers were kept busy on both days for not only were there the customary teas and coffees but also a cake stall, tombola and raffle. Among the many visitors were the Mayor and Mayoress of Hunstanton, Councillor and Mrs Richard Bird.

A Grandson's Appreciation of his Nan

The following poem was sent by our ten year old grandson, Cavan.

I like sleeping round my Nan's
Because she lets me ride my bike
And lets me eat whatever I like.
She lets me go on summer rides
And watch the summer tides.
She lets me see my friends
And keep up with the latest trends.
When I go to bed
I have a weary head.

Dear Newsletter,

Heacham Brass and Reed Band

Regarding the photograph that appeared on the front page of the October issue, I write to tell you that the gentleman sitting in the front row, 4th from the right is my Grandfather, Charles Long. He was a builder in the Village and also served on the Parish Council. He died in 1942, so I would say that the approximate date of the photo is perhaps early 30s. I am fairly sure that the gentleman standing at the far right may well be someone I knew as Cue Patrick. My childhood memories of him are scant, but I think he did quite a lot for the Village (I am not even sure of the correct christian name, whether it was 'Q' Patrick because his name began with a Q?).

I know that my Father also played in a band, but I am not convinced that he appears in the photo. My maiden name was Ray and my Father was a Photographer in the Village, with a shop in Station Road. After his death my Mother ran the Playschool. A seat to my parents' memory is located in Poplar Avenue, close to our family home.

Dear Newsletter,

When Is The Next Bus To North Beach?

I have enjoyed our stay at the above address this season but after talking to many of the retired people they all wish the same as me!

When I came to Heacham 5 seasons ago I wrote to the Newsletter saying it was a lovely place to be but we lack a bus coming up to North Beach. It is a dreadfully long walk to the bus stop in the village for both young and elderly.

I would like to request on behalf of all of us, if it isn't possible for a bus to come to North Beach. If not all of the week, would it be possible to have a bus at say 10.00am on a Thursday or Friday if not both.

I am sure it would be well used if it was advertised in the Newsletter so everybody was aware that it was running.

I am sure this would make a lot of people happy as not everybody has a car, my partner and I haven't got one.

We pay a lot of rates on the parks as I am sure you are aware Could you please pass my letter onto the right person we will hope for a favourable reply. The season starts March 2009.

Smithdon W.I. Group

Very sadly on Friday 3rd October was the last meeting of the Smithdon Group. This group has been going for 48 years, but is now reduced from 5 to 3 WI's which is very difficult for financial reasons, so it meant closure. It's a sign of the times.

Five members of the past Heacham W.I. Were invited to this meeting, having always supported them. We all had a wonderful evening, enjoying a fish and chip supper, and then being spell-bound by Mr Storey's ghost tales of a black dog in parts of Norfolk.

All too soon the evening was over and the end of an era.

NEWS FROM SLIMMING WORLD IN HEACHAM

We have had a lot of new members join us since the last Newsletter and everyone is losing weight with an eye to Christmas and all those party frocks. Weight losses have been good and members are supporting each other over their ups and downs. We have been able to celebrate Anniversaries, Weddings and new babies and still lose weight! The Christmas Competition is well under way with members attaching baubles to Christmas Trees for every pound they lose and the thought of a nice prize to look forward to.

Before Christmas of course, we have Bonfire Night and with this is mind I thought the recipe this time would be a nice warming Soup to come home to after all the celebrations. Enjoy!!

RECIPE OF THE MONTH

Pumpkin and Walnut Soup

Ingredients

Fry Light

2 medium onions, peeled and chopped

2 cloves garlic peeled and crushed

1 small pumpkin, peeled, de-seeded and chopped 70ml/24 fl.ozs vegetable stock made with water and 2 tsp vecon.

2 level tbsp tomato puree

24 walnut halves, chopped

Salt and freshly ground black pepper

Method

Spray the base of a large saucepan with Fry Light. Add the onion and garlic and stir over a medium heat for a few minutes until the onion softens.

Add the pumpkin, stock, tomato puree and chopped walnut halves.

Bring to the boil, then lower the heat, cover the pan and simmer for 30 minutes.

Liquidise the soup and season to taste.

Serves 4.

KALAJUGA

Having read Dick Melton's article last month, I thought the readers would like to see Kalajuga as it used to be.

This picture has been copied from an old postcard found at a Craft Fair.

I first saw the bungalow when we purchased our beach hut in 1957. It has been modernised now and looks nothing like the original.

The picture was given to me by another beach hut owner who used to live in Heacham. I expect many people will remember her - Flora Taylor nee Macleod. She has attended the reunions held recently.

CHURCHES TOGETHER IN HEACHAM

Remember, remember the fifth of November, gunpowder, treason and plot! The rhyme has rather fallen from use today, and in truth I have to admit that I cannot remember the next line! However the sentiment of the first line which calls us to remember is very relevant for the month of November.

At three o'clock on Sunday the second of November, St. Mary's invites the residents of our village to come to our church in order to remember those people who were dear to them but who are no longer with us. It is a time when we can recall precious memories and thank God for them. It is also a time when we can honour our lost loved ones. The service is usually followed by a cup of tea or coffee and this enables everyone to share with those who understand the mutual sadness and loss.

The Remembrance Service follows at ten o'clock on the ninth of November. We meet as a village to honour those men of Heacham who gave their lives in the world wars. Their names are usually read out and we remind ourselves why we do this. The line in Kipling's poem Recessional sums it up in the words "Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, Lest we forget - lest we forget."

Remembering is an intrinsic part of God's nature. We can read in the Old Testament of several occasions where God remembers, or is reminded to remember, or of His call to His people to remember. In the New Testament Paul the apostle tells his adopted son Timothy to "Remember Jesus Christ, raised from the dead". When Paul wrote these words life was rather difficult for him. He was imprisoned under the Emperor Nero and possibly waiting for his own execution. Despite these circumstances he is keen to ensure that his son remembers the benefits of belonging to Jesus.

As we take time for our own remembrances in November let us also make space to remember Jesus.

Pip Lawrence, St. Mary's Ministry Team Member

All Souls' special service – 3pm, Sunday 2 November in St Mary's Church where we will particularly remember those who have died.

The Commemoration of All Souls is an ancient observance of the Church. It was used for over a thousand years and in more recent times has proved a great source of blessing. Our service is designed to be quiet and reflective as we remember those of our families and friends who have died. We affirm their love for us and the legacy that their lives continue to be to us.

News From Our Lady' & S Edmund's Catholic Church, Hunstanton & S Cecilia's Catholic Church, Dersingham

Sunday the 19th September saw the event of the annual parish walk. The sun shone brightly on the walkers of all ages as they set out after the morning Mass. There were 29 walkers all intent on finishing the course. The youngest member, 5 years old, ran from end to end distributing the blackberries that she had gathered with her Dad!! The oldest in his eighties kept a steady pace!! The rest of the walkers talked and laughed all the way round

This event, always very popular, started with a hearty soup guaranteed to see everyone round the course and all the walkers were revived at the finish with ice creams, cups of tea and great quantities of cake. All of the money raised will go towards the needs of the Parish.

HEACHAM SCARECROW FESTIVAL

NEEDS YOU!

It's time for us to start thinking about next year's Scarecrow Festival. Despite the rain, the village has always turned out to support us, and for that we are hugely grateful.

Do you have a large gazebo we could use for shelter from the sun (because, of course, it will not rain on next year's festival)? Would you like information or a demonstration for your group or club about scarecrow making? Could you spare a few hours on the day of the festival next year to help ensure the festival runs smoothly?

We have raised many hundreds of pounds for local good causes over the years, and we want to see this continue. Please offer what help you can to make sure the good work can go on.

ROYAL BRITISH LEGION

HEACHAM BRANCH

Remembrance Sunday is once more with us. It is a time when, throughout our hectic lives, we allow ourselves time to remember those who paid the ultimate sacrifice for our freedom. They were the ones who went out into the battlefields, took to the air, and sailed the seas that we may enjoy our present lives.

The losses still go on in more recent conflicts. It may have been under different circumstances but a loss to a family is still as traumatic now as it was in those dark days of our two World Wars. Let us remember all those who have died in conflicts and be eternally thankful to them.

WE WILL REMEMBER THEM

If you wish to pay tribute to those who gave their lives for us, please come along on SUNDAY 9th NOVEMBER to the Parish Church (9.45) and the Memorial Service (afterwards) (10.45).

May I take this opportunity to remind you that official Poppy Sellers will be about in our village and any donations will be gratefully received. The money collected goes to the Poppy Appeal which in turn is used to help those in need.

The Poppy Appeal has done great things in the past. Help us collect more to meet the ever increasing demands made upon it.

WEAR YOUR POPPY WITH PRIDE

Thank you.

THE LADS WHO WENT AWAY

They left their ploughs and Homely Fields To heed the call of war They thought their homes and village life Were worth fighting for.

And some returned to work again With the horses and the plough And some returned with burned out souls What price their glory now?

And some they never did return But lie in Foreign Fields Where sun and rain and seedtime No Harvest for Them yields.

The horse and the plough are long since gone Old village ways gone too But the Freedom that they fought for Is the gift to me and you.

Could you help in any of the following situations?

An older lady caring for her son with learning difficulties had for some reason stopped paying bills. On initial visit a letter was discovered stating that they would be evicted for non payment of rent. Most letters remained unopened and bills had accumulated. Age Concern Norfolk's Volunteer contacted all parties and set up payment plans. The volunteer assisted in ensuring bills were being paid and now the lady is out of debt and coping much letter with life.

If you could help this lady or the many older people like her with a financial muddle to sort out, contact Aileen at Age Concern Norfolk on 01603 787111 and become a Money Matters Volunteer.

A very nervous 60 year lady with an anxious disposition had lived in her family home in a council property since she was four years old. Due to a sequence of events and through no fault on her part, she was facing eviction. With only a short time scale Age Concern Norfolk's Volunteer was able to resolve the situation allowing this lady to remain in her home. We were initially contacted by a family member who along with the lady is absolutely delighted with this result.

If you could help this lady or the many like her with what seems at the time an insurmountable problem, contact Lin at Age Concern Norfolk on 01603 787111 and become an Advocacy Volunteer.

An 82 year old lady, who is a wheelchair user, is cared for by her husband who is 81 years old and her disabled daughter. This lady had been a dressmaker and had masses of material and paper patterns in boxes; the task of sorting these boxes was beyond the energy levels of all the members of the household and was causing great anxiety for all concerned. An Age Concern Norfolk Volunteer has helped her to sort out many boxes as although she is unable to move her arms she is quite capable of making decisions regarding which things she wishes to keep and which things need to go. Helping out in this way has made a huge difference to all members of the household.

If you could help this lady or the many like her who just need a helping hand, contact Terenia at Age Concern Norfolk on 01603 787111 and become an Active Together Volunteer.

An older man needed help to fill in an Attendance Allowance Claim Form. An Age Concern Norfolk Volunteer went out to visit him at home and helped to fill out the form. As a result this man now receives £67.00 a week which is the higher rate Attendance Allowance. He also received £201.00 back pay.

If you could help this man or the many like him who need help with complicated forms, contact Lin at Age Concern Norfolk on 01603 787111 and become a Benefit Outreach Volunteer.

News from Millbridge

Well, Summer is over and we are now busy planning our autumn and winter events schedule.

With regret we announce that due to ill health our dog "Bobby" died in September in the presence of our staff. Bobby was with us for over 12 years and a memorial is planned in the grounds that he loved. We also hope to have a category in our annual dog show in his memory.

We celebrated the anniversary of Lord Nelson's birth with lunch served by a chef dressed appropriately, including an inflatable parrot!

Friday October 31st saw us celebrating both Halloween and "Dare to wear Pink" (for Breast Cancer Care).

Saturday November 29th at 7.30pm, we will be holding a charity music quiz in aid of Alzheimer's. Teams of up to 4. Entry £5 a team. Refreshments will be available. Contact us for further details.

If anyone has an unusual hobby then we welcome them to demonstrate to us.

We are also researching the history of Millbridge. We aim to have a display next year demonstrating the changes from farmhouse to nursing home and would welcome any local knowledge, photos etc.

If you can help us at all please contact the Home.

A Hopeful Poem

When the nights are drawing in Our spirits they do sink 3ut as we watch the falling leaves Spring's nearer than you think

The winter jasmine starts to flower
The buds appear so fast
Before we know it suddenly
The shortest day has passed

And leaves begin to grow

Spring's just round the con
And that's the way to go.

AN INCIDENT OFF NORTH BEACH

In early October the Hunstanton Lifeboat and the Coastguards were called out when a large kite, similar to the type used for kite surfing, was spotted floating in the sea off North Beach, Heacham.

On arrival at the scene neither the Coastguards nor the Lifeboat crew could see anyone in distress and so continued southwards on their search, the Coastguards driving along the beach.

Near Snettisham, The Coastguards stopped and asked a fisherman if he had seen anything. He was able to tell them that someone had been flying the kite, had lost it in the sea and had then left the beach. The search was called off.

Had the owner of the kite had the foresight call the Coastguards to let them know that no-one was in trouble then the call-out could have been avoided, saving thousands of pounds and, more importantly, ensuring that the emergency services were available for a real emergency.

If you are ever in a similar position or you have lost a small craft, an inflatable dinghy, an airbed or an inflatable toy in the sea, then please consider that it will be worth letting the Coastguards know that no-one is at risk.

Steps You Can Take To Keep Your PC Safe

Keeping your PC software up to date

Software manufacturers often need to make changes to their products to ensure they remain secure. This is in response to the hundreds of hackers that like to try and find a fault in the software and expose details such as passwords and banking details.

To prevent this happening you need to ensure that your PCs are fully configured with these latest updates – sometimes referred to as patches. The good news is that most of the main stream software vendors will automatically update your software for you – all you need to do is to "reboot" or switch the computer off and then on again for these changes to be implemented.

Most user will use Microsoft software, and as such this is a large target for hackers to attack. It is strongly suggested that you take some time to visit the following Microsoft website and just make sure that you are receiving the latest up dates for your Microsoft software, including Windows and Office.

The good news is that this is a free of charge service provided by Microsoft and Apple.

Other steps you can take to keep your PC safe

Email is becoming a vital tool for most. Unfortunately it is also used as a mechanism to distribute malware. There are some steps you can take to further protect you business:

Only open email attachments from people that you know.

Only open email attachments when you have been told to expect one.

Never click onto a website link contained in an email unless you can completely trust the sender of the message and the web site it is linking to.

Never respond to "spam" email messages – it will lead you to being targeted by other spammers.

Never respond to emails that appear to be from your bank requesting passwords.

Don't forward junk email, spam or "chain" emails – it wastes time and can make you a target.

Be very careful which websites you visit – certain "unsavoury" websites can download malware without you knowing it.

Never install software from a website unless you are 100% happy you trust the vendor or provider.

Always check the website address (called a URL) and make sure it is correct – some hackers will alter the URL very slightly and redirect you to a rogue site.

Make sure you have good Internet Security Software from a well known and supported provider. You might even consider using a computer that does not run Windows, but perhaps a Linux operating system or even an Apple Mac

If in doubt – don't!

Keeping Live Theatre Alive

'CAUSE CÉLÈBRE' a play by Sir Terence Rattigan, to be presented by the Princess Theatre Club on Friday 14th and Saturday 15th November 2008, at the Princess Theatre, Hunstanton.

This dark and complex drama, by one of Britain's best-known playwrights (The Winslow Boy, The Browning Version, French without Tears, etc), was inspired by a real-life case – the battering to death of elderly Francis Rattenbury, and the subsequent trial which disclosed scandalous details of illicit sexual shenanigans, in Bournemouth of all places! The trial caused a nationwide sensation in 1935, making Cause Célèbre an extremely apt title for this, the final play written by Sir Terence Rattigan (1911-77, knighted in 1971). Originally written for radio, it was broadcast in October 1975 to such acclaim that Rattigan rewrote it for the stage, seeing it produced at Her Majesty's Theatre, London, on 4 July 1977, starring Glynis Johns as alleged murderer Alma Rattenbury. Later it was presented as a TV play and is available on DVD, with Helen Mirren taking the lead.

The real story behind the play: In the 1920s, in his native Canada, Francis Rattenbury was a successful and wellrespected architect, but his extra-marital affair with, and eventual marriage to, the attractive song-writer Alma Packenham caused such a scandal that the couple fled to England. Alma had been married twice before, once widowed and once divorced, and she was nearly thirty years younger than Rattenbury, or 'Ratz' as he was known to his close friends. For his part, Rattenbury was locked in a wretchedly unhappy marriage and when the vivacious Alma entered his life he was unable to resist her appeal to his senses. The pair flaunted all the rules of social convention, with the result that Rattenbury's wife divorced him, leaving him free to marry Alma two years later. However, Canadian society sympathized with his ill-used wife and in the early thirties the couple fled to England. They settled at the Villa Madeira in sedate and thoroughly 'proper' Bournemouth.

However, if their behaviour had caused a scandal in Canada, it was nothing compared to the storm that waited in Britain.

Francis Rattenbury was in his late sixties, a relatively wealthy man, when in 1934 his much younger wife engaged the services of a youthful chauffeur-cum-handyman, named George Stoner.

He was just seventeen when he joined the Rattenbury household, though he was a well-built youth and looked considerably older than his years. Within a very short time he, too, fell under Alma's spell; she showered him with gifts and, like the older Rattenbury before him, this susceptible young man was unable to resist the physical appeal of his mistress. They embarked on a passionate affair.

When Rattenbury was brutally murdered, both Alma and her young lover (still only eighteen) were arrested and brought to trial. It was left to the jury to decide exactly what had happened on the fatal night at the Villa Madeira. Sedate Bournemouth, along with the rest of the country, was appalled by the scandal and as the trial progressed it did indeed become a cause célèbre.

In Terence Rattigan's compelling script, the story of the trial is recounted in various scenes and locations, switching from the courtroom itself to flashbacks of incidents both in the Rattenbury household and that of Mrs Davenport, a jurywoman who is herself profoundly affected by the trial.

In the 1930s, of course, a verdict of guilty meant the hangman's noose. What did the jury decide? Ah, to discover that, you'll have to come and watch the play....

The Princess Theatre Club presents 'Cause Célèbre' on 14th and 15th of November at 7.30 p.m. each evening, with a matinee at 2.30 p.m. on the Saturday. Tickets £9, or £8 for concessions Box Office 01485 532252.

THE 10K RUN AND STICKY TOFFEE PUDDING

It was my first one and I thought I wasn't going to make it!! I didn't know where I was and I felt physically sick. The road ahead was just a big blurry mess..... On September 28th, I, along with David Lake of Heacham, was one of nearly a thousand people who took part in the Cancer research 10K run. Before I knew it, we along with the others were all limbering up ready for the start of the race, in our sky blue t-shirts and running shoes. (I must admit that at this moment, the temptation to go to the burger stand - meant for the spectators - was quite appealing, but I held firm!! KLFM were there getting the crowd going. Then a woman from LA Fitness came and made us do star jumps and squats to warm ourselves up and to be honest at this stage I was already worn out!! Then the countdown began and we were off. A 10K run around the Sandringham estate. 'This is easy', I thought. I was over taking everybody and not even breaking into a sweat. I had just passed the 3K mark, when it hit me - Pain. Ok, so it wasn't going to be as easy as I first thought. In fact, if it wasn't for a man in army trousers, from Cambridge, apparently, I wouldn't have kept on going. The water you got ½ way around was a welcomed relief. Sadly though, my inferior coordination really showed - trying to run, whilst sipping water from a paper cup isn't easy!! Slowly but surely the Kilometres passed, 7, 8, 9, and then there it was, the finish line. 'I'm almost there', I thought. But there was a flipping steward in my way. 'No', she said, 'you've still got that to go yet'. Arhh, there's more. I still have another 500m to go!

But it wasn't that bad. The last 500m was the easiest. The crowd really got behind you. The buzz that I got from going over the finishing line was addictive. I wanted more. Dave finished in 1 hr and I finished in 1 hr 6 mins. Do you know what, we'll both be there next year going for quicker times. Who knows, I might be the one in army trousers giving encouragement to someone trying to struggle on.

The final total that I raised was £410 and I think I'm right in thinking that Dave raised about £400 too. A big thanks to Gaynor, Laura, Soph, Brenda, Terry, Sue, Pam and the other mad one who came and cheered us both one. I wouldn't have got anywhere near £410 if it wasn't for all the businesses in Hunstanton. Thank you for all supporting me. These businesses were: USA Fried Chicken, Mobility 2000, Whitley, Scoop and Save, Fashion Wheel, Hunny Bathrooms, Derek John, Westgate Optical, The Barber Shop, Schofields, Funktional Clothes, Blacknight Security, Sweet Inspirations, Barrot batchlor, Top Cat and Tails, Kellies Beauty Salon, Maggies Sandwich Bar, Chives, The Wine Cellar and Deli, Bits and Pieces, Tartz, Hughes Electrical Store, Hunstaton Tackle, Beckys Baps and Buns, Wolfys and Fishers. They were all good enough to sponsor me. So use these shops. We have everything we need locally in Hunstanton.

One of the people who I was running for was John Rossington. I worked with him at Rushmore's in Heacham. I worked along with Colin Rushmore for about a year and, when I left, it wasn't long before I realised that I actually missed working for him. He was truly a great chef and I'm glad to say that I got to work for him. I know one thing that he used to do was write for the Heacham newsletter. I know that my spelling might not be as good, but hopefully you'll enjoy reading my recipes and making them also. Many of the recipes that I write feature on the menu at Chives in Hunstanton where I work as a pastry chef. I, Colin, Kim, John and Tom made a great team at Rushmore's. One of the desserts that was regularly on the menu was sticky toffee pudding. We all liked this and most of it was eating straight out of the oven before service had even started.

Sticky toffee pudding

225g dates (Stones removed, roughly chopped)
1 TSP Bicarbonate of soda
175 Self raising flour (Sifted)
50g Pecans (Roughly chopped)
2 eggs (Lightly beaten)
50g Unsalted butter
175g Soft brown sugar

Pre heat oven to 180C/ Gas 4

Place the chopped dates and 300 ml of water in a saucepan and bring to the boil. Once it has come to the boil, remove it from the heat and stir in the bicarbonate of soda (Which will make the mixture fizz). Meanwhile, cream together the butter and sugar. Then gradually beat in the eggs then fold in the flour and the pecans. Once you've done this and the date mixture. Once ready pour the mixture into a 28x20cm/ 11x8 inch tin, lined with baking parchment and cook until set - 30 mins to 1 hour depending on how good your oven us. Insert a knife into the cake and if it comes out clean it is ready.

Toffee sauce

500ml Double cream 175g Demerara sugar 175g Butter 1TBSP Golden syrup 1TBSP Black treacle

Put the butter and sugar in a pan and stir over a medium heat until all the sugar has dissolved and the mixture has gone lightly golden. Add the cream and stir until combined. Then add the golden syrup and treacle.

That's my recipe for Sticky toffee pudding with toffee sauce. I hope you have fun and success making it and to John Rossington and Julie Hobbs - You may be gone but you're most definitely not forgotten!!!

Happy cooking.

High Drama Over Heacham

As we plunge through Autumn and towards Winter John Bird conjures up memories of our only too brief hot Summer spell back in July.

Saturday 26th July 2008. 3.45 p.m. Happy Humans

Heacham swelters as the sun burns down from a clear blue sky. The heat is tightening its grip and the streets are emptying fast. Those who 'can', like me, are in the back garden having a quiet snooze in the shade as the smell of wood smoke and fat begins to trickle round corners and over fences and bangers and burgers sizzle on the barbecues tended lovingly by hopeful 'Celebrity' Chefs.

At the Fox and Hounds the Real Ale Festival is, to judge by the perspiring crowds lovingly hugging their pints, a massive success, as also are those neat little holiday businesses grouped around the Beaches, whose cash registers are, at last, after a soggy early summer singing a sweet song all the way to the bank

The tide has been out for about 4 hours and, lacking the cooling effect of the sea, the beach is hotter than ever; the sand by now burning the feet. Holidaymakers, toddlers in tow, draped with buckets, spades, mats, and bags of all shapes and sizes, begin to drift back for some shade where, armed with a cuppa, they can consider the options for the evening. A bit of Bingo? A drink and a bite to eat at the pub? Or maybe just a Take Away and Telly and, later, a walk with the dog?

On days like this the world is your Oyster; or more likely, as this is Heacham, your Cockle or your Mussel!

Gourmet Gulls

Down on South Beach the Black Headed Gulls are also full of the Joys of Life. High Tide was at about 12.30 p.m. and as the sea slowly recedes, they glide down sedately from far and wide to sit in their hundreds in the outflow from the River Heach as it fans out over the mud, loving it all as they dip and preen and shake their wings in the cool, fresh water.

Perky, even cocky, birds these Blackheads. Like their much larger and more aggressive, 'yackety yacking' cousins the Herring Gulls, there is a streak of opportunism built into their genes. They are mainly scavengers and tend to hang around people: following the plough, frequenting rubbish tips, or picking up oddments on the beach. But at times when you see them sweeping low like avenging angels over open country side they would not (to Sue's maternal outrage) turn their beaks up at the odd egg or fledgling; nor perhaps in quieter and more reflective mood, insects picked expertly out of the air. With their ever watchful eyes, Blackheads are never ever going to miss anything to their advantage. This is why, very soon they are going to have a gourmet meal presented to them, as it were, 'on a plate'.

Amorous Ants

Which brings me to the main actors in the bitter - sweet drama about to occur over Heacham's 'air space': our own dark brown Garden Ants.

They live in colonies made up of Workers, Males, and Queens in roomy apartments dug out under stones, walls, patios or pavements. The tiny workers, by far the most numerous and the ones we usually see scurrying around for ever busy and resourceful, are in fact infertile females never having the satisfaction of producing little 'antlings' but being fated to a routine of remorseless domestic drudgery!

By contrast the Queen (or Queens) luxuriating in the Nursery apartments has a life of comparative ease, laying eggs constantly and, together with the tiny grubs, and the pupae, being looked after hand and foot by the devoted workers.

It is nearly always workers that emerge from the nursery, but in the summer, things change and lots of larger Virgin Males and Queens are 'born' in readiness for mating. But there is one awkward problem. The last thing a colony needs is for the newly emerged brothers and sisters to mate. This might mean inbreeding and the possibility of defective offspring so the young Males and Queens all have wings, enabling them to take off in their thousands in search of unrelated mating partners, to found new colonies in what is called the Nuptial or Wedding flight.

Yet this is not by itself, enough. To be successful the flights from the different colonies in Heacham need to occur at about the same time otherwise the young unrelated ants are never likely to meet. An up-current of air is also helpful to enable the amorous couples with their rickety wings, to rise above the rooftops, combined with the very faintest of breezes to waft them gently away from their own colonies and towards others.

It's been hot for a day or so and yesterday as I walked along Wilton Road newly excavated soil and workers madly massing near the nest holes meant that the entrances were being enlarged to so that the Virgin Males and Queens could get out. Today is the day, I had thought as I nodded off. Hot and still with very little breeze.

3.59 p.m.

As I sleep many of the worker ants have appeared outside the nest entrances, but no sign yet of the males and queens. Difficult to imagine what it is like down below: the main 'players' maybe just 'raring to go', held back by the wise and tenacious workers, waiting for conditions to be just right. Mayhem I should imagine.

The sun, still high, swings slowly over to the west, its direct rays catching new bits of ground next to our house, and, indeed, all over our part of Heacham. Suddenly, as the ground around the nest entrances warms up further the winged ants begin slowly to emerge surrounded by a vast retinue of frenzied workers. It's all starting.

4.05 p.m. Chaos Reigns

The sound of the telephone jolts me awake. It's Colin. 'What are all those Gulls up to over Heacham? He says. 'They're catching flying ants' I reply.' 'I thought it might be today -----.'

Putting the phone down I go out and stand by the gate looking towards where Colin lives, and there they are: Blackheads flying gently round and round on short wing beats inside a large bubble of rising air filled with flying ants. They make it all seem so easy: changing direction sharply to pick up the odd individual, or coming up behind whole lines of ants as they climb into the sky gobbling up the lot in one 'fell swoop'. I glance down at the gatepost. Suddenly a line of about 20 flying ants emerges and, wings humming, rises past me into the sky, their moment of glory come. There are now ants everywhere. High up above us the virgin males are mating with the larger queens; their joint weight, eventually pulling them down to the ground, where they, together with thousands of ants that have never 'made it' might be easy prey for the birds. And soon the Gulls will arrive.

5 p.m. Calm After Chaos

All over now and maybe no more Nuptial Flights for the year. Within a short time all the Flying Males will be dead: their function fulfilled. For various reasons the Queens too. But here and there all over Heacham a few Queens will have mated successfully, shaken off their clumsy and now useless wings, and crept safely into a convenient hole where, sooner or later they can begin to lay some of the thousands of fertilised eggs that will found a new colony.

It's still hot but things are beginning to settle down for the evening. The Blackheads are now back at South Beach sated no doubt with their gourmet meal. In the back gardens the ants have been a real nuisance, getting on clothes and into food, and plopping with monotonous regularity into the Chardonnay, Chenin Blanc and Fosters. Never any peace for the wicked! But never mind, eh! We've got the evening to look forward to.

High overhead the Swifts are still screaming, and up on the main road lines of cars, windows wide open, have started the journey home.

Dakings Announces "Free Financial Healthcheck"

By Nigel Munton CertPFS of Dakings Financial Services

Following the recent turmoil on the financial markets, I know that many newsletter readers will be anxious and unsure as to whether they have their savings and investments in a safe and correct place. Moreover, whether their money is any safer in a bank or building society than it is hidden away at home.

Mrs J, recently told me that because she had lost confidence in her bank, she had been to Kings Lynn and bought a home safe for £79.99. Unfortunately she didn't think to get it concreted to the wall and burglars broke in and walked away with her life savings.

Our free financial health check will provide advice and guidance as to where you should be depositing your savings in the most tax efficient manner.

Nigel Munton of Dakings Financial Services said "we are delighted to be able to offer this service to readers of the newsletter. We have recently become directly regulated by the Financial Services Authority (FSA) and as Independent Financial Advisers have full access to the best deals in the market place. This offer is without obligation and will be treated in the strictest of confidence".

Hunstanton & District Lions Club

The 'George Raines Sporting Achievement Award' this year has been won by Jake Butterworth. With the co-operation of Smithdon School this trophy is presented annually to the student who, in the view of the School, has given the most to promote, participate and support sport in the school year. It is not only for personal achievement but for the sporting ethos. If there is no suitable candidate in any year there will be no award! George Raines was an outstanding Lion and expressed a wish to give young people in the Hunstanton area an award for sport, and Hunstanton Lions are pleased to arrange this. Congratulations Jake!

On 27th September we held a very successful 'Race Night' at Old Hunstanton Social Club which raised around £350 for our charity funds. Thank you all for your sponsorship and attendance.

This month is a busy one for us. On Friday 14th November we will, as usual, be collecting for 'Children in Need' visiting all the pubs and clubs in the area raising money directly for this very worthwhile cause. If we bump into you, please give generously. Last year we raised over £800 and we intend to raise even more this year.

Sunday 23rd November is the day that the Hunstanton Festive Christmas Lights are going to be officially switched on. The whole day promises to be great fun with entertainment and food throughout. There will be a continental market all day and a lantern procession at 5.00pm. The lights will be switched on at around 6.00pm and we will be bringing along Santa in his sleigh to help with the proceedings. This event is being organised by Hunstanton Business Club.

December is, of course, when we hold our ever popular 'Christmas Grotto'. This year it is in the basement of the Town Hall. This coincides with a 'Craft Fair' which we are organising in the Hall. The dates are December 13th, 14th, 21st and 24th. There are still a few stalls available for hire for some days. For further information please call 01485 533108. Everyone is welcome to visit the Town Hall on these dates and get some rather special gifts for Christmas – and don't forget to bring the kids to see Santa in his Grotto!

The October winners of our '200' Club were:-

Malcombe Rossiter William May Jumbo Baker Sean Turrell

Bird Watch in Heacham

One of the first bird boxes I put up in our garden was a dove cote positioned on top of our conker tree and although there were many visits by the collared doves and stock doves after four years none had taken up residence. So, very dear friends of ours (Joan and Ted) bought us four white doves for our Christmas present. They arrived in October last year with instructions to keep them in for six weeks. So I constructed a wire cage over the dove cote and for six weeks I climbed the ladder to feed, water and clean them out.

The doves arrived with bands on their legs, one with a black band became Blacky, one with a red band became Red, yellow band was Yellow and the one without a band became Noband.

Six weeks passed and it was time to let them out. On the first day Blacky was the first out and disappeared for 2 days. Eventually she came back starving hungry but none the worse for her travels. Yellow was next and flew around but did not venture far. Next day Red and Noband flew off together and again did not go far. They returned in the evening to feed and roost. For the first few days all was okay, but then the birds started roosting in the branches of the tree, then on a neighbour's roof until eventually it was further up the road between a neighbour's dormer windows. We spoke to a bird keeper and he explained that we had pigeon doves who liked to roost together, not individually, they also had a very large territory, so advised us to get some fantail doves that did not fly too far and this would encourage them to stay around.

We ordered four fantail doves and I started building a larger roosting box where they could all roost together. The fantails arrived and the new home was built, but would it work?

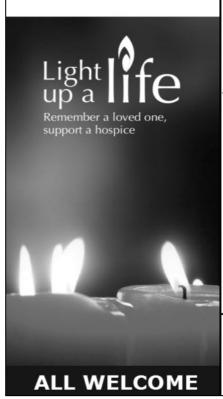

We encouraged them with their feeding to enter the new box and with the curiosity of the new fantails it was not long before our doves were in and out of their new home.

Red and Noband soon became a pair and were the first to lay two eggs which produced our first chicks. Blacky and Yellow were not long to follow and also produced two chicks. Alas, it wasn't good news for the fantails. As we have mentioned before, our garden was the perfect take-away fly through for the birds of prey and the fantails, who were very poor fliers, soon disappeared.

They would lay 2 eggs between 24 to 48 hour apart and both birds would take turns sitting on them. They would build a nest of only a few twigs. When the eggs hatched after 14 to 18 days both parents would take turns to feed the chicks. They would regurgitate milk like fluid at first and as the chicks got older the mixture would become thicker until they were ready to start feeding them selves on corn and seeds. The parent birds would also keep adding twigs to the nest enlarging the nest as the chicks got bigger After about 2 to 3 weeks the parent birds would be 'at it' again and 2 more eggs would be laid and the parents would be incubating the new eggs whilst feeding the other chicks. When the chicks were about 5 weeks old they were ready for fledging, just as the new eggs were ready for hatching and the procedure all starts over again. It's no wonder we have so many pigeons around.

The doves have now settled in very well and have had a number of chicks between them. They all have become very aware of feeding times which we normally do in the morning and early evening and we have noticed that it is not only our own birds that are there to feed but we believe that every bird from St. Mary's Church also come along to join them for a free feed.

Although the doves are completely free and we have not encouraged them to be tame they have become very friendly and it is great to see them flying around when we are working or relaxing in the garden.

But going back to the beginning of this story, still the old dove cote sits on top of our horse chestnut tree, empty. Many birds visit it and sit on it, but still none have taken up residence. But as we have said before, when it comes to wildlife, patience is essential.

Dedicated to our dear friend Joan.

THE POTTING SHED

GARDENING ORGANICALLY

To own a bit of land, to scratch it with a hoe, to plant seeds and watch the renewal of life - this must be the commonest delight of the race, the most satisfactory thing a man can do. Charles Dudley Warner (1829-1900)

The above was written about 160 years ago and I am sure that many people would not agree with the statement. Equally there are many who would agree wholeheartedly with Charles Warner. It has been demonstrated repeatedly that many disruptive people, whether child or adult, improve markedly in their attitudes when introduced to the "joys of gardening". So much so that many schools are re-introducing gardens and putting gardening back on the curriculum. I personally found during my professional career that coming home and putting an hour in on the garden, helped me greatly to unwind.

It's Sunday and once again, I can't go out to play as it's pouring with rain. I suppose it's a good thing as I can get on with this article instead of messing about outside. There is so much needs doing in the garden but as it's still full of flower - we are on our third flowering of delphiniums - I am disinclined to get too brutal with "tidying up". I have cleared the tomato vines from the greenhouse, ready to start sowing for next year (yes it's never too late to start planning). My neighbour has also planted some "Swift" early potatoes in his greenhouse which, with luck, will give him new potatoes for Christmas but as I have two sacks of spuds on the garage, I won't bother this year. It's a good ploy though and has served me well in the past.

I think that, despite our "iffy" weather this year, that I've done pretty well for vegetables. One thing I must watch next year is not to plant my brassicas so close. With the damp cold days we've had, I've lost a lot of plants to rot due to lack of air circulation. It's silly really, I should know better but when you have umpteen pots of healthy brussels sprouts or whatever, the temptation to plant them all out is too much for yours truly. I'm just as bad with the tomatoes but I have had super crops of those. I've decided that Black Cherry and Black Plum are now on my list of "must grow" tomatoes, their flavour is brilliant and they crop heavily - better than Black Brandywine. So I must plan more carefully next year and only grow the tomatoes etc. that I want. Ha!

The Aminopyralid shambles seems to rumble on. It even made "Gardeners Question Time" on Sunday 14th September. I was driving down through France and nearly had a fit. There was some idiot blathering on about how safe this muck is and how carefully pesticides are monitored yet Dow Agrochemicals, who make the stuff has advised people whose vegetables have been damaged by it, to avoid eating them. The trouble is that the herbicide's use is so widespread and apparently some farmers have applied too much on the principle that if a bit does the trick, more will do it better. I'm just hoping that the manure I have ready for next year is free of this foul stuff. It has been stacked for a good while now and hopefully the bacteria in the heap will have broken down any nasties present.

Now last month I rashly said that I would write about gardening in limited areas. I really have stuck my neck out as I am fortunate to garden in about a half acre of land (if you want that in hectares, it's about 4.5acres/hectare and you can work it out for yourself!). However I am aware that many of you have much less than that to play in although it is quite possible to produce tasty nutritious vegetables from astonishingly small areas of ground. So let's stop waffling and get on with it.

First there is a wealth of information about this topic. Those of you with computers can "do a google" putting in "gardening in small spaces" and you will find pages. I have decided however to try and draw on my own knowledge, some of which I will have derived from books and some from playing about in my own garden.

The first thing you need to do is decide how much of your plot you can grow vegetables on. Most people have pretty flower beds and these can be used without spoiling the effect. The French invented - I think - the Potager, of which I have spoken before. This is a way of mixing flowers and veg in the same plot, in of course, a pleasing fashion. For instance there are a variety of runner beans with pretty flowers some of which are even scented. One example is Painted Lady which has red and white blossoms as well as fine flavoured beans. There is even a dwarf variety called Hestia, suitable for growing in a pot, with red and white flowers and 18-20cm slim, string-less pods. Ideal for a patio and if you start a new pot when the first is growing well, you will have successional crops. If you want to grow dwarf French beans there are plenty to choose from and many have attractive yellow or purple pods. If you go on-line and look at any of the major companies website's you will really be spoiled for choice.

Beetroot is another vegetable which, besides being very good for you and tastes good, can be quite pretty in a flower bed.

Bulls Blood, for instance, has deep red leaves of which the young ones are good in salad (as are any young beetroot leaves). Also some people like to grow coloured cabbage plants. These as well as being decorative are also edible.

Potagers have another advantage in that, by mixing flowers and vegetables in one bed, you can confuse the pests. It is now proven that most, if not all, pests need to sense - with their feet - more than one plant or leaf to recognise their target. In a mixed planting, the chance of a pest being confused is much higher. Also, predators such as hoverflies, depend on pollen and nectar from flowers to supply energy to lay eggs. The larvae from these creatures are voracious carnivores and will eat hundreds of greenfly etc. whilst developing.

OK you don't want to use that method. Well, as I'm running out of space in this article, you will have to wait for my next thrilling instalment. In the meantime, the seed catalogues are available - and free - so get one or three and decide what you are going to grow. next year. Get some of your neighbours to share in the cost of seeds and you will be growing tasty, pretty and cheap veg in 2009.

DID YOU KNOW? The Growth Of Heacham Since 1801

Over the years the older inhabitants of Heacham will have seen the number of shops dwindle. By modern standards we are well served but 100 years ago everything was available from the local shops from food and drink to clothing, footwear and hardware. The curious thing is that, as the number of shops has shrunk, the population has grown greatly:

SALTINGS WORK DAY

Many thanks to the select band who came to The Saltings to bash the bram bles. It was a really impressive start to the work that needs to be done. As there is plenty more bramble left (not that we're trying to get rid of it, only keep it in check), we will be having more work days there in due course.

As a change from bramble bashing, there is a Bray's Pit day lined up for February. There is no guarantee that there won't be any brambles, but there will be other stuff to tidy.

Heacham Football Club

It has been an encouraging start to the 2008/09 season, especially for the 1st team who have maintained their unbeaten record with 3 wins and 1 draw in the league. They also won the first round match in the Junior Cup with a 3-0 win.

All the matches have been hard fought and exciting for the spectators. None more so than the 7-5 victory away to Ingoldisthorpe, who were probably flattered by the scoreline in being awarded 3 penalties.

There is always a welcome at our ground for any new spectators. Please come along.
